

I find solace
Confidence in the words I rhyme
I predict my illusions
In my own place and in my own time
Pick up, pack your pieces
I can't deal with this, we're leaving
We're beyond this whole realization
That these four walls, they were all just built from fear

And these four walls, they cannot hold you here
You're just in a rut

Don't let yourself fall apart
Don't listen to what they say, it isn't true
It's okay to not feel alright
This is your place, this is your time

Let's try to do this right

Let's be honest
We know you can't control this
We're not here just to exist
There must be more to this

So give us a better day
A better place away from here
Just give us a better place, a better day
A better day, a better way

Let's dance through the fire
Smile through our tears
Elevate ourselves higher
And face up to fears
Get out of this rut

Don't let yourself fall apart
Don't listen to what they say, it isn't true
It's okay to not feel alright
This is your place, this is your time

And I won't let you fall apart
Nothing that they said was true from the start
And everything will be okay
This is your life
This is your time

Don't let yourself fall
Don't listen to what they say, it isn't true
It's okay to not feel alright
This is your place, this is your time