

Bluff

Dreamer Boy

I was wrong
For letting you think that you had my all
For leading you on, for all this time
But you wanted more than I could supply
And now, I know your name
I know your smell
I know your heart
Know you too well
I guess I just don't know how
To say goodbye
So I'll just say goodnight

I was young
So naive for thinking I had your all
And that I had it all
All of this time
But you didn't know how to sacrifice
And now, I know your game
I know your tell
I wished for your heart
And you wished me well
I guess I just don't know how
To say goodbye
So I'll just say goodnight

I been going through the changes
I been going through a season
I been going through the changes
I been going through a season
I been going through the changes
I been going through a season
I been going through the changes
I been going through a season