

Trust Me

Dreamhouse

Slow down to take a look at yourself
With no greed in mind
Lights out, so they can't see who's really
Behind the veil

You'll never make it

Are you afraid of being you?
I don't think you should listen to a soul other than your own
Don't you fake it cause you'll never make it
They will see through all your insecurities
Trust me

Are you not sick of imitating?
It must be hard playing pretend
Every moment that you're breathing
Is like a breath that's already been

Inhaled and exhaled
The only difference is it's through your lungs
Don't try and deny that
The only one it's hurting is yourself

You'll never make it

Are you afraid of being you?
I don't think you should listen to a soul other than your own
Don't you fake it cause you'll never make it
They will see through all your insecurities
Trust me

Reflect on mistakes
While lying awake
You're bound to break
No give and all take

Are you afraid of being you?
I don't think you should listen to a soul other than your own
You're a fake and you'll never make it
They will see through all your insecurities
Trust me
