Lightbringers

Dreamshade

The future, the end of darkness, a flash in the night
Dark days are over, we will bring light
We are the voice that has been lost over time
The sun is back to shine

When all you see is misery
Remember you're not alone
I will give you energy
To face the unknown

Escape reality, it's time to turn the page
"Will you save me from myself?"
Erase normality, embrace the wind of change
Life is too short

So damn young, our ascent has begun
Bearers of hope, we are second to none
Deep wounds that we have to heal, generations you've tried to kill
This is (this is), this is the last stop, so please get off!

When all you see is misery
Remember you're not alone
I will give you energy
To face the unknown

I'm always next to you
I don't care how black and blue
I'm always there for you
I don't care how tired and bruised

(YEAHHH!)
When all you see is misery
Remember you're not alone
I will give you energy
To face the unknown

Whenever you feel desperate
Remember you're not alone
I will give you energy
To face the unknown

Escape reality, it's time to turn the page
"Will you save me from myself?"
Erase normality, embrace the wind of change
Life is too short

I'll chase my soul through the sunset
Before the night falls on us
This is the last glimpse of brightness
A beam on my way, forever my guidance
I'll chase my soul through the sunset
Before the night falls on us
This is the last glimpse of brightness
A beam on my way, forever my guidance