

Somewhere Else

Dreamshade

This is a wake-up call
The moment of truth
Swim against the current with nothing to lose

Past and future feel so far away
What's the path you're gonna choose?

Making your way out of the nothingness
Will never be easy
How can you say you got nothing to give
To the world you live in?

And if the bed you sleep in
Is more like a grave
Then you gotta sing with me...

Would you rather be somewhere else?
You feel like you just don't care
You're always so distant and wasting away
But you... you never break

Paralyzed, paralyzed by sadness
Is it what you want? Did you just give up?
Was it worth, was it worth the madness?
It's time to make it stop

Sick of the feeling
Holding your guts
Trying to be someone you're not
Running away out of the misery
Dawn of a new day

And if the bed you sleep in
Is more like a grave
Then you gotta sing with me...

Would you rather be somewhere else?
You feel like you just don't care
You're always so distant and wasting away
But you... you never break
