

toD-eulB-elaP-(A)

Dreamshade

From a cosmic perspective, the earth seems so insignificant
Sometimes we just forget how small we are in this vast unknown

Yet everything we have and everything we know of lives here
On this tiny blue marble
A grain of sand
Just a fraction of a dot

Do we ever stop and ask ourselves if we appreciate it enough?
Can we really see how unique and how precious is that pale blue dot?