

Eye for an Eye

Dreamtale

Why the hell are you staring at my bloody face
Oh, with those amber eyes one of us will die
On this dark 'n fateful night the other one survives
You're looking like a wolf but you're fighting like a sheep
I'll tear you apart
I'm stabbing in your eyes and slitting your throat
Then I'll eat your heart

I will take your skull (to save my family)
I will wear your hide (to keep me warm at night)
I will keep your long fangs (as my lucky charm)
I will be unstoppable

You can't take a wolf from a pack and expect to be spared
Vengeance will be at your door when you're least prepared
Mighty messengers of justice and the force are after you
You will meet again the family of mine and of the wolf you slew

We are the holy guardians of mountains
The prophets of catastrophes, the justice of sins
We are there to help, we'll fight if you call us to aid
But if you mess with us, expect to pay

We run so fast like the northern wind will blow
Our pack will track you down anywhere you go
Ooh, and once you are encircled then there is no way out
No-one will hear you, it's useless to shout
What's left of you once the deed is done
A head with no eyeballs to show that justice won

We are the holy guardians of mountains
The prophets of catastrophes, the justice of sins
We are there to help, we'll fight if you call us to aid
But if you mess with us, expect to pay

We are the holy guardians of mountains
The prophets of catastrophes, the justice of sins
We are there to help, we'll fight if you call us to aid
But if you mess with us, expect to pay
We are there to help, we'll fight if you call us to aid
But if you mess with us, expect to pay
We are there to help, we'll fight if you call us to aid
But if you mess with us, it's eye for an eye

We are there to help...
But if you mess with us, it's eye for an eye
