

Gathering Pebbles

dredg

Wait for me; you're on to something maybe
There's no need to play catch up, to play catch up
Wait for me; you're on to something maybe
There's no need to play catch up, to play catch up
Casually, casually walking through life without a worry
Worried its effects will show so now I'm gathering
Gathering the pebbles I need to drink from the well
So thirsty so thirsty

Wait for me, well I am not very far behind so
Wait for me, I'm still chasing you
Wait for me, well I am not very far behind so
Wait for me, while I play catch up, play catch up

But thankfully, thankfully I haven't been taken very seriously
Seriously anxious to run the course without stumbling
Stumbling over fences now I'm falling
Falling down the hillside
It's way too steep
It's way too steep

Wait for me, well I am not very far behind so
Wait for me, I'm still chasing you
Wait for me, well I am not very far behind so
Wait for me, I'm still chasing you

I happened to take a chance, now there's no turning back
Return to childhood dreams, they're rusted figurines
I've been through life fast, riding over broken glass
There is no question now that I will catch up
