

Dance with Everybody

Drew Holcomb & The Neighbors

When you walked into this room you hardly knew anyone
A sea full of strangers crashing on the rungs
But when the band strikes, by the end of the night, strangers no more
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door

Whether you came here to party or you came here to cry
Whether to meet somebody cheat, somebody get low or get high
So come on all you people with two feet on this floor
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door

Oh oh oh, let it all go
Oh oh oh, shake up your soul
Throw your hands in the air
Throw your hat in the ring
Throw your hips and your heart into everything
Get lost in the crowd
Get down on the floor
Let's dance with everybody who came through that door

Come all you saints and sinners, poets, prophets and fools
All you cowboys tricksters hipsters, trying so hard to be cool
All you dreamers and schemers, thirsty for more
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door

Oh oh oh, let it all go
Oh oh oh, shake up your soul
Throw your hands in the air
Throw your hat in the ring
Throw your hips and your heart into everything
Get lost in the crowd
Get down on the floor
Let's dance with everybody who came through that door

Let's put aside our differences, lace up our shoes
Let's narrow the distance between me and you
Meet me in the middle, let's quit keeping score
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door
This night is on fire, like never before
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door

Oh oh oh, let it all go
Oh oh oh, shake up your soul
Throw your hands in the air
Throw your hat in the ring
Throw your hips and your heart into everything
Turn the world on a string
Turn the winds on a dime
Turn the wheel to the west and water to wine
Get lost in the crowd
Get down on the floor
Let's dance with everybody who came through the door
I want to dance with everybody who came through that door
