

Quirks

Drew Seeley

You sing the wrong words to every song on the radio
You dance like you got two left feet and you don't even seem to know
And when I wake up in the morning you been stealing all the sheets
Everything you are is everything I'm not, that's you and me

But nothing you do or say now can faze me
I can't even count the ways that you drive me crazy
And girl that's why you're worth it

I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
All about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
You're perfectly unperfect
And girl that's why you're worth it
I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
Don't ever lose all your little
All your little quirks

You favorite jokes are the ones that I don't even get
And you, you like to make three right turns when you could just take a left
And girl when you speak to animals they all seem to understand
Do anything you want, you've everything I got to be you man

But nothing you do or say now can faze me
I can't even count the ways that you drive me crazy
And girl that's why you're worth it

I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
All about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
You're perfectly unperfect
And girl that's why you're worth it
I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
Don't ever lose all your little
All your little quirks
(All your little quirks, yeah)

I know you think I'm crazy
'Cause we're different (We're different)
So different (So different)
Girl we saw the ways I'm unlike you
When we met, but it makes sense

'Cause you're all about all my little, all my little
All my little quirks
All about all my little, all my little
All my little quirks
We're perfectly unperfect
And girl that's why we're worth it

I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
All about all your little, all your little

All your little quirks
You're perfectly unperfect
And girl that's why you're worth it
I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
Don't ever lose all your little
All your little quirks
(Quirks, yeah)

You're perfectly unperfect
And girl that's why you're worth it
I'm all about all your little, all your little
All your little quirks
Don't ever lose all your little
All your little quirks
