

Why Can't You Say That You're Mine

Drew Seeley

You feel like all the love you gave has gone to waste
But I'm not mad that what he had, he couldn't appreciate
I'll taste your salty tears when I kiss them all away
The way that you need me to Erase the shit that he put you through Here's what I got for you

That drive off into the sunset love
The kind you've waited for
That Sunday morning breakfast love
When you've had enough, I'll feed you more
It's you and me against them all
The love I got will never let you fall
It could start a war or stop time
So why can't you say that you're mine?

Know that I can dry those eyes, and put a smile upon your face
So just take off all that cover up, cause it don't cover up the pain
It's underneath your skin, and no you don't belong to him
You're like a diamond that's perfect cut
Why can't you tell him you had enough
And that it's time for us

To drive off into the sunset, love
The kind that you've waited for
That Sunday morning breakfast love
When you've had enough, well I'll feed you more
It's you and me against them all
The love I got will never let you fall
It could start a war or stop time
So why can't you say that you're mine?

Don't you ever wanna let go?
Don't you ever want for something more?
Don't you ever want your heart to beat so hard
Feels like it's 'bout to explode?
I can give you that once in a lifetime, that blinding bright ki nd
That you deserve, say the word...
