

Warning Light

Duncan Sheik

I've never felt water like this
A soft, a liquid kiss
I'm drowning in the bliss
Another thing I'll miss
I've never felt sun like this
A deep, a burning kiss
I'm melting in the bliss
Another thing I'll miss

Do I really need to tell you
The reasons why
You need to make it right
And you see the warning light
I've never breathed air like this

A sweet, a silver kiss
Filling me with bliss
Another thing I'll miss
I've never seen green like this
A pure, a heady kiss
Blowing with such bliss
Another thing I'll miss

Do I really need to tell you
The reasons why
You need to make it right
When you see the warning light
The warning light
Can't compel you
To fight this fight
It's pretty black and white
You don't see the warning light

I'm not trying to sell you
You don't need second sight
You need to make it right
And you see the warning light
The warning light
