She waited For the light to turn green on me and her She waited For me to speed those 3 little words I dragged out a promise I never made good She waited as long as she could And now IDm sitting on the couch Whiskey in my hand Starring out the window for one more second chance Hoping headlights come pouring round the bend Waitin□ waitin□ waitin□ For her forgiving voice to come across the phone Say I□ve been waitin□ up I□m coming home But then the sun will rise and I'm still all alone Waitin waitin waitin Yes she□s running Like a river after a hard rain She□s rolling Free like a tumbleweed on a desert plain I was the one that she couldn□t slow down All but look at me now And now IDm sitting on the couch

Whiskey in my hand Starring out the window for one more second chance Hoping headlights come pouring round the bend Waitin waitin waitin For her forgiving voice to come across the phone Say I Dve been waiting up I□m coming home

But then the sun will rise and I□m still all-alone Waitin□ waitin□ waitin□

I know I should get in my truck Chase that girl down the highway □Cause there ain □t no winning her back Just sitting on the couch Whiskey in my hand

Starring out the window for one more second chance Hoping headlights come pouring round the bend

Waitin waitin waitin

For her forgiving voice to come across the phone Say I Dve been waiting up

I□m coming home

But then the sun will rise and IOm still all-alone Waitin waitin waitin Woah wo-oh-oooh Waiting
