

Collapse Within

Dying Passion

Wide circles narrowed collapsed and disappeared bridges were burned, and you were left here

Your wings have fallen apart now you cannot fly to the other side there's no hand which can pull you out and save you, you are losing without a fight

Sky is fading out You fall hard on the ground so you wish that you can fly time to get back is running out

False hope is leading you back there your mind is cursed, your faith is broken

Blind whisper is following you everywhere quiet shadows surround you

You can run but they are still here chasing you forever haunted by the product of your lust

Caught in their arms tied by your dreams
about the sky