

All Roads Lead Back

Dylan Gardner

Rain falls hard on a city street
I'm searching for the missing piece
But I ever only find excuses
And I've been aimless at the most
I played it cool and paid the cost
They say that even sadness has its uses
But I know now there's no way to go
But through all the trouble troubling you
And if you look for the answers you might find
They've been with you all the time

I don't know why I still do
Half of the things I do
I may try to run away
But all roads lead back to you

Rain falls hard on a city street
I'm searching for the missing piece
But I ever only find confusion
And everywhere I look I see
Strangers looking back at me
Making their own way through the illusion
But I know now there's no way to go but through
All the trouble troubling you
Ooh and if you look for the answers you might find
They've been with you all the time, ah ah

I don't know why I still do
Half of the things I do
I may try to run away
But all roads lead back to you

I don't know why I still do
All of the things I do
'Cause I may try to run away
But all roads lead back to you
All roads lead back to you
All roads lead back to you
