

I'm Nothing Without You

Dylan Gardner

I've left a million times
To say I'm better off alone
But I've found a million times
Your love has always felt like home
I can't say I'm better off alone
My breath's been held tonight
You've got me somewhere I don't know
And although I've gone away
That somewhere always feels like home
Can't say I'm better off alone

I'll go anywhere you want to
Down the corners of the world
Cause I'm nothing without you
There's something about you
And I'm lost without you

You've said a million times
The world's just spinning in your head
And you've tried a million times
To hang to everything instead
We're barely hanging on a thread
I'd never go away to say that it's the only way
Cause now I'm here to stay
I could have never felt this way, way

I'll go anywhere you want to
Down the corners of the world
Cause I'm nothing without you
There's something about you
And I'm lost without you

We'll say anything you want to
You'll never have to turn away
Cause I'm nothing without you
There's something about you
And I'm lost without you

It's just the start of something
That started out of nothing
And all these times I've waited
I've tried to just replace it
With all these other places
With all these different faces
But I'll just have to face it
These faces can't erase it

I'll go anywhere you want to
Down the corners of the world
Cause I'm nothing without you
There's something about you
And I'm lost without you

We'll say anything we want to
You'll never have to turn away
Cause I'm nothing without you
There's something about you

And I'm lost without you
