

Nice to Be Nowhere

Dylan Gardner

Do you ever wonder how the nights change us
Even the quietest moments can mean so much
Well it seems like everything is rearranging
But we still have each other

Here we are, once again
Lost with nothing to do
All alone but tonight I know
It's nice to be nowhere
With you, with you

Sleeping under the stars that forgot about us
Even the smallest dreams can mean so much
We've grown up so fast but we're never aging
And we still have each other

Here we are, once again
Lost with nothing to do
All alone but tonight I know
It's nice to be nowhere
With you, with you

Baby if you only knew how life will be
It's only the beginning but I know
It will become, spinning circles round the sun
It don't matter where we're going baby
You and I are going to [?]

Ey, ey, ey

Here we are, once again
Lost with nothing to do
All alone but tonight I know
It's nice to be nowhere
With you, you
With you
