

Why'd We Break Up Again

Dylan Marlowe

I know I slammed the door, kicked gravel out your drive
But if you ask me now I don't remember why
'Cause you're standing on my porch and damn you know I love 'em jeans
Seeing you is messing with my memory

Why'd we break up again? Why'd we ever call it quits?
Nah I don't remember when you're looking like that
We say that it's over till you're on your way over
Then I open up the door and I take you right back up
I can't turn you down, I can't turn you down
When you come around, when you come around
Way you're kissing me tonight baby I forget
Every reason why, why'd we break up again?

Girl, did you kick me out, tell me to go to hell?
'Cause if you did then I guess I didn't listen well
Yeah, here we are baby, it's two AM again
Never been good at just being just friends, so

Why'd we break up again? Why'd we ever call it quits?
Nah I don't remember when you're looking like that
We say that it's over till you're on your way over
Then I open up the door and I take you right back up
I can't turn you down, I can't turn you down
When you come around, when you come around
Way you're kissing me tonight baby I forget
Every reason why, why'd we break up again?

Why'd we break up again? Why'd we ever call it quits?
Nah I don't remember when you're looking like that
We say that it's over till you're on your way over
Then I open up the door and I take you right back up
I can't turn you down, I can't turn you down
When you come around, when you come around
Way you're kissing me tonight baby I forget
Every reason why, why'd we break up again?

Oh, why'd we break up again?
Oh, why'd we break up again?
