

Momma's House

Dylan Schneider

I see your face on every street
Every corner, couple trees
Even got our name on 'em
I feel your love, I hear your laugh
Got them take me way on back
Hurt me memories, I don't want 'em
Up and down the boulevard
In and out of every bar

I'd burn this whole town down
Pick a spot, dig a hole, put them ashes in the ground
Baby, I'd burn this whole town down
If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house
Damn girl, why'd ya have to break it like that
Leaving pieces of a shattered heart scattered like glass
I'd burn this whole town down
If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house, yeah

I wouldn't start it where we started, at that downtown party
Where you kissed my lips and stole my beer
Or city park in the dark where we looked up at the stars
Watched them fireworks pop last year
I'd start it under that Texaco sign where you said goodbye
I get some gas and drop a match right there

I'd burn this whole town down
Pick a spot, dig a hole, put them ashes in the ground
Baby, I'd burn this whole town down
If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house
Damn girl, why'd ya have to break it like that
Leaving pieces of a shattered heart scattered like glass
I'd burn this whole town down
If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house

White picket fence, twelve-hundred square feet
Raised me right, sweet smile, sweet home, sun tea
Sunflowers on the wall, she don't ever miss a call
She the only one that's always been there for me

I'd burn this whole town down
Pick a spot, dig a hole, put them ashes in the ground
Baby, I'd burn this whole town down
If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house
Damn girl, why'd ya have to break it like that
Leaving pieces of a shattered heart scattered like glass
I'd burn this whole town down

If it wasn't for my momma's house, my momma's house, yeah
If it wasn't for my, if it wasn't for my
My momma's house
