

Regrets

Dylan Sinclair

Mm, mm, mm, yeah

Huh, uh

Mm, mm-mm

I left you when I should've held on
Running back to you is not my solution
I do some things that I do not intend
Loving you did not make sense
Three years later, I'll regret
Not loving you is the life in me
It's been long since I spent three years
You have no clue how I feel right now
I've been lost, come and make me found

And I can't quite comprehend
Why I wish I was still your man
Why I did what I did and I can't
Continue through
After what I had with you
No one matters, not like you
Yeah, yeah, oh, oh-oh (No one matters, not like you)

I just left my last girl this past week
Leaving her did not phase me
I didn't love her nearly as much as I loved you
Didn't think I'd share these words with you so soon (With you)
No, I don't think that I should be here
Way back where we started three years
If you get how I feel right now
Don't feel forced to come back around

And I can't quite comprehend
Why I wish I was still your man
Why I did what I did and I can't
Continue through
After what I had with you
No one matters, not like you

I regret being the one to let you go
Push away the time, wanna keep you close
I was too young, I was too naïve
I'd love you still if you would let me
I regret being the one to let you go
Push away the time, wanna keep you close
I was too young, I was too naïve
I'd love you still if you would let me

Wish I would've done things differently, high-key
Mmm (No one, no one, no one, no one)
(No one, no one, no one, no one)

No one matters like- baby, yeah, yeah