

My Darkest Hour

Dynazty

I can see, I can't believe
The light is on but the fire's gone
I don't wanna touch, I just wanna feel
I don't want much, I want something real
We all fall and we all rise
The road is long to paradise
Who is to judge how we find the way
There is no truth just a different say

Hunger resides in all of us
Having it all is never enough
The human heart shattered into dust

When the sun comes crashing down
When the world is spinning round and round
I will face what must be my darkest hour
When the lights sway and we turn
We will stand or fade away
My darkest hour
When the sun comes crashing down

One thing ends another starts
Cynicism roots in the broken heart
What is the wrong, when nothing is right
Another truth clad in different light
We all crash and we all burn
The road goes on as we live and learn
We do not bend if we choose to break
Die to defend when your pride's at stake

A devils resides in all of us
Having it all is never enough
The human heart shattered into dust

When the sun comes crashing down
When the world is spinning round and round
I will face what must be my darkest hour
When the lights sway and we turn
We will stand or fade away
My darkest hour
When the sun comes crashing down
