

BASEMENT

easy life

Woah, fuck me, this is fucking mental
Holy shit
Ah, I love this one, I love this one!
Yeah, love this one, man, oh
This place is mental, man

Well, it all started off in the basement, yeah
I said if anything breaks, I'll replace it
But I'm just looking for some affirmation
A confirmation
Man, that everyone thinks I'm amazing, yeah
So hand me the bottle, give your friends the address
See, I'd be running this jungle if I'd only got dressed
But these complications, yeah
I don't owe anyone an explanation

I feel the wheels coming off
I think I had a little too much, worry about it later
I can't recall
If you were even in the building, got me thinking

Are we there yet? (Ahh)
Are we there yet? (Da-da-da, da-da)

Now we're both sitting here on this two-seater
With dopamine rushing, no question
Trust me I'm buzzing
You came
Yeah, but don't mind the neighbours, 'cause they all come in peace
All these familiar faces looking not so familiar
Understatement, yeah, huh
As long as I'm a legend in the making

I feel the wheels coming off
I think I had a little too much, worry about it later
I can't recall
If you were even in the building, got me thinking

Are we there yet? (Ahh)
Are we there yet? (Da-da-da, da-da)
Are we there yet? (Ahh)
Are we there yet? (Da-da-da, da-da)

Well, it all started off in the basement
Just me and my mates trying to mark the occasion
Girls popping pills and stare at their reflection
Like, "What, do I actually look like that? Bro, I'm ruined man, Jesus"

I feel the wheels coming off
I think I had a little too much, worry about it later
I can't recall
If you were even in the building, got me thinking

Are we there yet? (Ahh)
Are we there yet? (Da-da-da, da-da)
Are we there yet? (Ahh)
Are we there yet? (Da-da-da, da-da)