

About to Break

Eclipse

In a shotgun blast and neon light
In the shadows of strangers and
High stilettos tonight
The dream is checking out

Taste of dog eat dog reality
Reaching out for love
But nothing is to be found
The walls are creeping in

Stood there waiting in the wing
Could've been the next big thing, now...

How does it feel to be left all alone
How does it feel when there's no one to run to
How does it feel knowing you had it all
Now everything is about to break

The scene is turning black and white
The colour is gone and the credits starts to roll
"Thank you it's a wrap"

There's no plan B no falling back
And the new sensation hits a brand new low
More dead than alive

Stood there waiting in the wing
Could've been the next big thing, now...

How does it feel to be left all alone
How does it feel when there's no one to run to
How does it feel knowing you had it all
Now everything is about to break