

Each Day I Cry A Little

Eddie Kendricks

(You know, it's funny how people put labels on things,
like men are supposed to be strong, and women weak.
I've even heard it said that men don't feel things as deeply as women, don't hurt as bad. But when love comes into your life, and all your feelin's come to the surface - joy, and pain, whatever's in your heart; it's intensified a thousand times. Yes, I've been hurt; deeper than you'll ever know. But bein' the kind of man
I am, I have to hide my feelin's. But if I could put all that aside and tell you the truth...)

I want to beg you down on bended knees, stay with me~~eey But then my fears outweigh my needs and I must turn away, ~ay~hey~ay~ay~

Though you think that my heart is cold, girl, you can't see the tears that flow deep inside me.

Each day I cry a little Each night I die just a little
Each day I cry a little Each night I die just a little.

Those warm and gentle words my lips can't form.
If you could hear my silent prayer, I know you'd change
your mind.

Can't you see that I'm just a man too proud to let you know If you go...

Each day I'd cry a little Each night I'd die just a little Each day I'd cry, cry just a little Each night I'd die just a little more than I'm ever gonna show More than I'm ever gonna show you.
