

When Your World Stops Turning

Eddy Arnold

What do you do when your world stops turning
To start your world turning again
You know you should leave get her out of your mind
Turn the page, close the door, say goodbye
You know that it's hopeless she's gone like the wind

Your world won't start turning again
What do you do when your world stops turning
And the torch starts burning again
What do you do when your hearts starts hurting
To start your world turning again

You live without night and you live without day
You're lost like a last tear you cried
You hope that it's maybe she'll come back
And then your world will start turning again

What will you do your world stops turning
And the torch starts burning again
What do you do when your hearts starts hurting
To start your world turning again...
