

Catching The Breeze

Eden's Bridge

Friday again
Sitting alone in your chair
Again
Staring at space
Waiting for something to change
Again

And the sights of the city
Are sullen and dark
And the rain on the window
Reminds of you of where you are

Working so hard
Chasing the deadlines around
The maze
You can never relax
So consider a change
Put your work
In its place

Leave the lights of the city
For the light in the skies
You can draw back the veil
Of the sunlight in your eyes

Catching the breeze
Sailing away and Travelling
The seven seas
Open your door and
Step out and catch the breeze

The journey is long
But one step is all that it takes
To start
So lift up your eyes and
Pack up your courage and fill
Your heart

The horizon is distant
The sun is so bright
And the city is fading
As you walk out into the light
