

365x: 20

EDEN

This series is called three-hundred and sixty-five times.

This video is called twenty.

So... Where do I begin?

I guess since this is the first time I've done this, I'll start with the basics.

You all know me as EDEN, and by the time you're watching this I will be twenty years old.

It's funny how you don't realize how much things have changed until you've stopped to look back. I never had a euphoric moment where I thought "This is it. Everything is about to change.", no... that doesn't happen, but still somehow, here I am three-hundred and sixty-five days later, wondering if a turning point even exists.

And, that's not to say nothing eventful has happened this year, either.

I dropped out of school, I released some music, and somehow that allowed me to travel a bit, even though I've never even played a show.

I made some new friends, and team EDEN now has more than one member, with the addition of my manager and lawyer back in Autumn

.

So, what does that mean?

Am I gonna start making different music?

Absolutely not.

Is my manager gonna start posting or tweeting for me?

Absolutely not.

I mean, I started this on my own so that I could do what I want, how I want, when I want, and that's never gonna change. I own my future.

And, speaking of which, although I think this has been the most significant year of my life so far, 2015 has only scratched the surface of what I want to do.

I have more plans than you can imagine.

So, 2016...

Where do I begin?