Holy Fire

Edenbridge

I remember a past life, a life long ago Memories are reveries And visions fading into grey

I behold the paleness with the glimpse of an eye There's no friend in no man's land Streets leading to wild frontiers

Let the torchlight shine above you Scan a flashlight of a dream Take the spell and hold the spirit of the flame And rise up with the light

Holy fire glimmering eve Follow traces until you believe Light a candle for the magical ring And wait until the night's breaking in

Am I walking the false path the one of no return Counting strides the mind divides
The ever-turning wheel of time

Then I'm crossing the border beyond the no man's land Lizard eyes and painted skies The turning point right on my way

Let the torchlight shine above you Scan a flashlight of a dream Take the spell and hold the spirit of the flame And rise up with the light

Holy fire glimmering eve Follow traces until you believe Light a candle for the magical ring And wait until the night's breaking in

Holy fire glimmering eve Follow traces until you believe Light a candle for the magical ring And wait until the night's breaking in

Holy fire glimmering eve Follow traces until you believe Light a candle for the magical ring And wait until the night's breaking in