

Red Ball in Blue Sky

Edenbridge

silence all over the island lies asleep
the balance of your life
the beauty of the deep

this sapphire blue this entrancing rendezvous the art of seduction will take you away what has happened before was it all that you longing for more an illusive devious path led astray sleepwalker don't fear the moon daydreamer don't wait till noon the essence of life takes you further than you might have known rise high

a red ball in a blue sky a blazing scent will come by the fortune smiles on you sun beams
the vantage point of your dreams the salient spirits of youth through the kissing gate of your soul let all those blue skies in the hyaline sea is waking a bale-fire in me as plain as a pike-staff becoming aware by the tag-end of doubt knowing no one can live without we're wielding the sceptre of life so prepare rockbound your heart cannot feel pounding the stones and reveal the canyons and deserts the indented coastlines at heart

rise high
a red ball in a blue sky
a blazing scent will come by
the fortune smiles on you
sun beams
the vantage point of your dreams
the salient spirits of youth
through the kissing gate of your soul
let all those blue skies in

silence all over
the island lies asleep
the balance of your life
the beauty of the deep

there your inward journey goes the spellbound of the sunrise dawn moves you from your faint-hearted sky so come to ally in key with lucent ocean waves here by the wishes of our dreams turn the blueprint to a quaint reality and the jewel nature waits in amenity of boundless cunning skies believe your aphelions are near the sunrise within