

Never Say Never

Edward Maya

And no I won't surrender
I'll learn to never say never
I know that the end is where I begin
So I'm writing my story with my heart in my hand
I will remember

I've always been the weird kid in class
At least well everybody thought so
I finished all competitions last
I never cared about how I looked
The quiet one with loud, loud thoughts
The shy who never ever spoke up
But no I never learned to give up
Even though I learned to let go

And no I won't surrender
I'll learn to never say never
I know that the end is where I begin
So I'm writing my story with my heart in my hand
I will remember
To never say never
There's a fire within, I feel it under my skin
And it's burning and burning, let it go on still
I will never surrender

You've always been the weird kid in class
At least well everybody thought so
You finished all competitions last
I never cared about how you looked
The quiet ones with loud, loud thoughts
The shy who never ever spoke up
But no we never learned to give up
Even though we learned to let go

And no I won't surrender
I'll learn to never say never
I know that the end is where I begin
So I'm writing my story with my heart in my hand
I will remember
To never say never
There's a fire within, I feel it under my skin
And it's burning and burning, let it go on still
I will never surrender