

Walk With You

Edwin McCain

I'll take this slow sweet walk with you
You'll let go of my hand to say I do
And he will discover just how blessed a life can be
I know 'cause all those years ago someone handed you to me

Every step that we take brings back the memories
Winter snows and horse shows and dancing on the beach
I can't help thinking that I'm the lucky one
You're still my baby daughter, and now I've gained a son

I'll take this slow sweet walk with you
You'll let go of my hand to say I do
And he will discover just how blessed a life can be
I know 'cause all those years ago your mom handed you to me

Don't miss a chance to put each other first
Now that you've vowed for better or for worse
And don't let the beauty of this life pass you by
In the times of trouble you'll stand side by side

I'll take this slow sweet walk with you
You'll let go of my hand to say I do
Picture a slow sweet walk yet to be
And you'll take my hand, say daddy come see

Then you'll know what it feels like
You won't believe what it feels like
Then you'll know what it felt like when she handed you to me
She handed you to me
