

Sleep

Edwin Raphael

So you've left me here all alone
Don't worry you've taught me a thing or two
You should treasure your life everyone's around
'Cause before you know everyone is gone
Everyone is gone

And now I'm walking back
Though your flowers in my hands
And when I saw you, you, you looked so, so fine
Asked me a question
What I want from this life, from this life

So don't you dare pretend to care
Don't you dare pretend, darling, to sleep
'Cause after all is done sleep just won't do
It just won't

Don't worry you've taught me a thing or two
You should treasure, treasure, treasure
'Cause before you know everyone is gone
Everyone is gone
