We were on this car trip,

And I was looking at these rows and rows of trees all along the highway.

I don't know what kind of trees, apples or something.

There were just like thousands and thousands of rows of a thous and trees each.

And I picked one tree that I could see about eight trees back in this one row in the middle.

Just one in a billion.

And that's how I felt.