

Who Of You Will Persevere?

Eidola

How many times will I see you compromise?
Sit and watch you waste your life
Now I'm moving on
I don't keep your company

Within my spirit I'm alive
Speak low, sing clearly
I'll be the last one to survive
Head down, don't test me
I can feel it every time that you're giving in
I don't mind, I don't mind
I will be the only one who's left to remember
While we all get led astray

You always knew you'd fall behind
You're the thorn in my side
I've been given all I've got and never given up
Whoa, your war is not enough

How many times will I see you miserable?
Set me up to take the fall
Now I'm moving on
I don't keep your company

Without a question, I exceed
Speak low, sing clearly
A simple phrase to plant a seed
Head down, don't test me
I can feel it every time you deprecate
Trying to subvert me
If you think that I would never be another relentless mistake
I guess you don't know me

You always knew you'd fall behind
You're the thorn in my side
I've been given all I've got and never given up
Whoa, your war is not enough

I know it hurts like hell
But, God, I love to see you fail
I'm proliferating for the thrill
You can't compare and you never will

You can't compare and you never will
You can't compare and you never will
If you think that you can be the hero
Don't expect to be the one who has the voice
If you believe that you're a perfect person
If you believe that you're the one who has no choice
Then come and take me out

You always knew you'd fall behind
You're the thorn in my side (Thorn in my side)
I've been given all I've got and never given up
Whoa, your war is not enough

I know it hurts like hell

But, God, I love to see you fail
I'm proliferating for the thrill
You can't compare and you never will

Sink to the bottomless ocean
Fill your lungs with glass and concrete
In your sleepless devotion
(You never will)
I hope you find your stars
A fading light