

Creator

Electric Guest

I remember back when everything was still a picnic
Life was blue and lovely, it was easy just to live it
Sunny in the day, but every night was getting colder
Looking for an answer every season, every moment
I know
Every day you're wondering
No one to hold me in my life
Some days, I would die about a million times a minute
But every time I died, you'd recreate me in your vision

You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
I don't want it to end

Ohh, got that classic double vision
Heaven or a hell, it just depends on how you're living
Watching every particle play out in slower motion
Looking in your eyes and seeing nothing but the ocean
I know
Every day you're wondering
No one to hold you in your life
Some days, you can die about a million times a minute
But every time you die, you're recreated in the vision

You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
(Made me again)
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
I don't want it to end

Oh, you showed me something I don't know
Every day, I'm losing more control of you

You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
(Made me again)
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
I don't want it to
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
(Made me again)
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
Got me screaming amen

Made me again
Got me screaming again
Made me again
You're my creator, oh, I'm glad you made me again
Stay with me till the end