

Things Im Saying

Elegant Machinery

What do you say
About the landscape filled with pain
About the acid in the rain
As it falls from a heavy sky?

What do you say
When the sickness deep within
When the hurt under your skin
Is a result of the infected wind?

CHORUS

Listen to the things I'm saying
This is just the reality
So stop pretending and denying
It's time to live with sincerity

How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?
How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?

Time has come
For us to pay the price
For not listening to advice
It's time to face the consequence

CHORUS

CHORUS

How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?
How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?
How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?
How can you say that it doesn't matter
When everything around you has started to shatter?