

All Falls Away

Eleven

It used to be mine

A face so laced with doubt and daily pain

It used to be mine

A breath so spent on holding up the wait

You made me resign

And trade a dying ember for a flame

Fearing the sound of no one's voice

And nothingness fills the whole...

All falls away All falls away All falls away All falls

Away

It used to be mine

A head so full of memories never lived

It used to be mine

And island that the map said wasn't there

You made me resign

And trade a dying ember for a flame

Fearing the sound of no one's voice

The chill of the touch that's never felt

And nothingness fills the whole

All falls away All falls away All falls away All falls

away

All falls away All falls away All falls away All falls

away