

It's Okay

Eleven

my world is steam-rolling down on me (ole) my stone is thrown and it sinks into the bay i'm meant to fly only gravity's in the way i dream in color but i wake up and it's all gray my momma told me that it's easy to navigate

but i just keep on running into a wall called fate i'm feeling shattered by reality but alright if this is my life it's okay

the water's muddy and the food has no taste my breathing's tighter that the skin wrapped around my face

i try relaxing but my mind wants to race ahead i see the future and it looks like it wants me dead

when there is no way out I'll find it anyway you said there may be no tomorrow yesterday when all the worlds are gone I still will be okay

another spin on the wheel and i'll get it
