

Red wine stains around the sofa
Every single night that you would stay over
All the deadlines drowning in the glow of Incandescent headlights over the ocean
We were

Swimming in the grooves of your favorite albums
Listening to the future in thundershowers

Got lost in the crest of your wave
I'm watching my ever after circle the drain
And now I can't trust anybody's goodbye
When it feels like every love song is a lie
When it feels like every love song is a lie

Mix tapes pouring from your dashboard
Spilling every chord we don't have the words for
All the bloodshot memories of the friction
Trying to find your voice in all the prescriptions
We were

Snapping every rung on a listless ladder
Broken in a way that we never shatter

Got lost in the crest of your wave
I'm watching my ever after circle the drain
And now I can't trust anybody's goodbye
When it feels like every love song is a lie
When it feels like every love song is a lie

Dream of forever
While we're falling together
Dream of forever
When the future could never
Dream of forever
While we're falling together
Dream of forever
When the future could never

Got lost in the crest of your wave
I'm watching my ever after circle the drain
And now I can't trust anybody's goodbye
When it feels like every love song is a lie
When it feels like every love song is a lie