

Wouldn't Be Enough

Elijah Woods x Jamie Fine

The sound of silence makes my
My head spin
Where do I begin?
At the start or at the end?
The sound of silence makes me
Want to give in
But I know if I pretend, I could try to let you in

Just for one night I could Make you believe that there's
More than just a you and me
That you'll
That you'll find her, wait and see
Just for tonight I could
Pretend that I agree
Cause you're happier without me than you ever seemed to be

Night and day, both
One in the same, cause
My mind never changes
Even though it might seem rough
Fight to stay, so
I can light the way home
A thousand years beside you still wouldn't be enough

Sink or swim through the fire baby
Smoke fills the room, getting higher maybe
If you open your eyes you could see that our hearts were never meant to be
No more time, getting tired baby
No more love, you keep tryna save me
Open your eyes and you'll see that that our lives were never meant to meet

Night and day, both
One in the same, cause
My mind never changes
Even though it might seem rough
Fight to stay, so
I can light the way home
A thousand years beside you still wouldn't be enough

Feels like we lost it all
Feels like we lost the love
Feels like you had me crawl
I think I've had enough

Night and day, both
One in the same, cause
My mind never changes
Even though it might seem rough
Fight to stay, so
I can light the way home
