

Read The Room

ELIO

I don't know how you swerve so far out, out of your lane
Or why you showing up unannounced in the first place
All you do is drop some names and talk about yourself
Your narcissistic tendencies are my version of hell
Let yourself out and please get the fuck out of my face

You should read the room
Take that social cue
You should read the room
And read between the lines
Yeah, go waste someone else's time
Read the room
You should read the room

How do I politely say "Suck my fucking dick"?
You're so nauseating, how do people stomach it?
Crying over women who are way out of your league
And I'm confused 'cause I know it ain't about your personality
(I know about you)
(Or even the way you look)

You should read the room
Take that social cue
You should read the room
And read between the lines, yeah
Go waste someone else's time
Read the room
You should read the room
God, you're so oblivious
Doing way too much
You should read the room

You love to act so sentimental
Just as an illusion
But you're not special
Just pretentious
Maybe even useless

"Yo, what was his name?"
"Oh, his name was ..."

You should read the room
Take that social cue
You should read the room
And read between the lines, yeah
Go waste someone else's time
Read the room
You should read the room
God, you're so oblivious
Doing way too much
You should read the room