

The Window

Elisa

If you open the window I'm free from the words that are hard to come out like a weeping willow your fingers in my hair when the wind comes and plays its music
its music