

monologue

Ella Langley

[Monologue]

These stories, this moment
Laughing at your choices, crying over your mistakes
Realizing the thing you want, isn't the thing you need
Fiercely standing up for yourself
Making it through heartbreak
Not taking yourself so seriously
Learning your self worth
Being your own worst enemy
Turning the page, true love
Growing out of the person you were
Into the person you are now
Growth is painful, growth is hard
It is beautiful and it can leave you feeling hungover