

Still Figuring Out

Elliot Minor

Intro

G D A Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever

G D A A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah

G D A Bm C G D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

Verse

D
This is how its meant to be

A
Releasing misery

Em
A straight mind is all i need

G A
To walk on my own feet

D
Were falling out of time

A
My memories unwind

Em G A
This sleep that we've been in is beating up your mind

Bridge

Em                      G                      A                      D
Lets play a song for everyone and dont let go

Em                      G                      A
Lets play the song all night long

Chorus

G D A Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever

G D A A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah

G D A Bm C G D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

Verse

D
Days and nights, they feel so good
A
Just like the way they should
Em G A
Those crazy nights that were left behind were so misunderstood
D
A missing photograph
A
Never thinking of the past
Em G A

Well theres a lot to see, and there's only one path

Bridge

Em                    G                    A                                    D
Lets play a song for everyone and dont let go
Em                    G                                    A
Lets play the song all night long

Chorus

G                                    D    A                                    Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
G                                    D    A                                    A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
G                                    D                                    A                                    Bm                                    C                                    G                                    D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways
G                                    D    A                                    Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
G                                    D    A                                    A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
G                                    D                                    A                                    Bm                                    C                                    G                                    D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

C                    G                    D
We will go our separate ways X4

Solo

verse Chords

Chorus

G                                    D    A                                    Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
G                                    D    A                                    A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
G                                    D                                    A                                    Bm                                    C                                    G                                    D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

G                                    D    A                                    Bm
Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
G                                    D    A                                    A
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
G                                    D                                    A                                    Bm                                    C                                    G                                    D
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways