

Half A Heart

Ellise

Fifty, fifty, cup is almost empty
Are you really with me or do you just resent me?
Help me, help, cycle isn't healthy
Haven't been myself, please
Keep my mind from bendin'

Apple of your eye, 'til you took a bite
And realized I was rotten, now it makes you rotten
Gave you everything I had
Somehow I'm the bad guy for gettin' ruined
You knew that

I've got half a heart
The rest of it's sitting in the graveyard
Buried by the lovers who are too young to take us
Left me with nothing but scars
And maybe if you gave me part of yours
I'd feel a little better, I could love you for a lifetime
But we'd be back at the start
(Ah-ah-ah)
Either way, it's half a heart
(Ah-ah-ah)
Half a heart

And half of good things, really just a bad thing
Silently I'm askin' what you wanna sacrifice
To keep in your life, I don't wanna die, but I Feel so guilty bein' the hand that guides the

Knife into your chest, makin' such a mess
Callin' it romantic, puttin' on a bandage
Gave you everything I had
And somehow I'm the bad guy for gettin' ruined
You knew that

I've got half a heart
The rest of it's sitting in the graveyard
Buried by the lovers who are too young to take us
Left me with nothing but scars
And maybe if you gave me part of yours
I'd feel a little better, I could love you for a lifetime
But we'd be back at the start
(Ah-ah-ah)
Either way, it's half a heart
(Ah-ah-ah)
Half a heart

Better me than you
Better one than two
Keep up, who I doomed
Make people who I doomed
Better call it quits
Call it what it is
Sew up the stitches and think that we fixed it
But it doesn't fit