

braindead

Elohim

She don't care about the things that make her have to think
So she'll take another pill, have another drink
He don't wanna feel the pain, feeling on enough
Shut his eyes up in his room, and drinks until he's drunk

And all I know is I know what I don't know
And what I don't know could fill up a whole Bible
And all the fuss creeping in from down low
But at least I know I'm not alone

We're all braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain
Yeah, we're all just braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain

You want the chills, you want the high
You probably need a pill just to crack a smile
We're all doped up just to survive
In this life that's full of lies

We don't wanna face the truth so we keep living down
We don't wanna see what's wrong, we know it's all around
There's a pounding in my skull that makes me wanna run
Is there a drill that stops the pain until I'm feeling numb?

And all I know is I know what I don't know
And what I don't know could fill up a whole Bible
And all the fuss creeping in from down low
But at least I know I'm not alone

We're all braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain
Yeah, we're all just braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain

You want the chills, you want the high
You probably need a pill just to crack a smile
We're all doped up just to survive
In this life that's full of lives

Brains keep falling from the skies
Tears falling from my eyes
I ain't even surprised anymore
I swear it was the last time
I finally realised
I don't need to be high anymore
Brains keep falling from the skies
Tears falling from my eyes
I ain't even surprised anymore
I swear it was the last time
I finally realised
I don't need to be high anymore 'cause

We're already braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain
Yeah, we're all just braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain

You want the chills, you want the high
You probably need a pill just to crack a smile
We're all doped up just to survive
In this life that's full of lies

We're all braindead
Looking for something
Something to numb the pain