

The Wave

Elohim

I'm gonna trust you, because I want to
In the worst case, if it all falls to bits
Maybe I'll stumble
On something special
That I wouldn't have
If I hadn't taken the chance

Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Once you stop, stop looking it'll hit you in the face
(Always looking for the-)

When I go all night, and it's stressful
I keep searching, it's not helpful
Is it pointless?
Is it worth it?
You need silence
To find magic in spaces

Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Once you stop, stop looking it'll hit you in the face
(Always looking for the-)
(Always looking for the-)

What they say is
What is worth it's worth the wait
So I'm letting go in this decorated place
I surrender you can't fight the fate
It's already come to me

Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Once you stop, stop looking it'll hit you in the face
(Always looking for the-)
(Always looking for the-)

(Always looking for the-)
Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Always looking for the wave
Once you stop, stop looking it'll hit you in the face