Thank You For All Your Loving

Elton John

Oh pity me
I'm so alone and so blue
My friends have all gone away
Their friendliness too

It was I on my own
With no need to be alone
And I wanted to die
That's when you came along

And thank you for all of your loving Thank you for all of your tears Thank you for all of your kindness Thank you for being here

What a difference it makes My life has started again And if you go away It just won't be the same

It's hard to say what I feel
When I'm by your side
You're there when I'm worried
All my troubles in you I confide