

I Can't Wait for You to Die

Elvis Depressedly

You ran away from your uselessness
Like you had something to prove
How fucking stupid can you be
To think it wouldn't follow you?

That's the way it's always been

Every night you're a wreck
Just crying like a child
All your lies are terrified
And your hunger's running wild

And this is what you deserve

You're pitiful and you're permanent
And you haunt my broken life
I'm so far from my home by now
There's no way I will survive

And I can't wait for you to die
