

Same Old Way

Elvis Depressedly

Sister roll your window down
The night is wailing like a hound and we are headed underground

It ain't safe to know my heart
I'm crazy and I'm torn apart and scattered off into my art

You can try to break me baby, but you know I won't break
If you made me cry a thousand times, twist my mind and tell me
lies
Even when I want to die I love you the same old way

I'm grateful to be on your mind even just some of the time
You might always be on mine
Or I may forget you exist
Forget the laughter on your lips as I laugh into my loneliness

You can try to break me baby, but you know I won't break
lies
Even when I want to die I love you the same old way
